1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Japan'123 (Japan 2000-28123) in view of Casoli (U. S. Pat. No. 4,739,781).

Re claim 1, note that Japan'123 discloses a dishwasher comprising: a main body having generally a box shape with an open front; a washer tub being extracted from and retracted into the main body through the open front by means of slide rail assemblies, the washer tub having an open top; a lid (144, see fig. 1) being located at an upper part of the main body when the washer tub is fully extracted and being moved downward as the washer tub is retracted, the lid closing the open top of the washer tub when the washer tub is fully retracted to be accommodated in the main body; and an extension (unnumbered, but beneath and in contact with element near 145 in fig. 1) member extending backward from a top rear portion of the washer tub, wherein, that differs from the claim only in the recitation of the inner rear wall being located in front the mainbody. Casoli is cited disclosing the rear wall located as claimed. It therefore would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art, modify the device of Japan'123, to be as taught by Casoli, for the purpose of allowing full access to the wash chamber.

Re claim 2, although not specifically disclosed by Japan'123, no patentable distinction is deemed to exist between the extension member as claimed, and the corresponding unnumbered element (near 145). Re claim 3, Japan'123, disclose an embodiment (fig. 1) as claimed.

3. Claim 4 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. In Merrill, Kesling, McNairy, Lovercheck, Tomlin, and Worting, note the drawers.

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-4 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
